Wrecks and Thefts Plague Local Police

A rash of automobile accidents and break-ins plagued City Police over the long Christmas week end.

The most serious accident occurred early Saturday when an auto driven by Billy Burns of Hope sideswiped another driven by Hermiea Dunn of Huntsville, Ala., on Highway 67, east near the overpass.

City Officers said the Burns vehicle went out of control, threw both Burns and a passenger, Vincent Turnipseed of Lewisville, out and it is believed that a third car driven by Carl W. Harding of Forrest City hit Burns. The Burns car traveled about a block, hit a tree and finally came to a halt in a driveway at Arkan Courts.

Burns and Turnipseed are in critical condition in a local hospital.

Officers Willis, Moses and Rowe investigated and charged Burns with reckless driving. The investigation is not complete. The Burns vehicle was demolished and the Alabama car damaged.

Friday on Old Highway 67 an auto driven by Nettie Black pulled up behind an auto and stopped. A second car driven by Arneal Reed of Hopt. Rt. 3, started around the Black car and crashed into a third car driven by Mrs. B. W. Edwards of Hope. Mrs. Edwards and Helen Reed suffered slight injuries. City Officers Pedron and Sinyard charged Reed with reckless driving and driving without proper brakes. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

At 5th and Hazel cars driven by Ben Nelson and John Dennis collided with heavy damage to both vehicles. Officers Martin and Fullerton charged Nelson with driving while intoxicated and Dennis with speeding.

Sunday on North Hazel cars driven by Donald Ray Brown and Marvell Smith collided with heavy damage to the Smith vehicle. Officers Martin and Sinyard reported also that someone entered Cecil Trent's house at 8th and Graham and stole his Christmas turkey.

Ironworkers End Wildcat Strike

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Ironworkers today ended their construction-crippling wildcat strike at this missile test center.

About 100 ironworkers set up picket lines last Wednesday to protest a New Jersey firm's use of five nonunion workers on a camera platform installation job. Some 800 members of other building trades unions honored the lines, halting all construction.

The International Ironworkers' Union said the strike was unauthorized and discussions over the weekend brought an end to the walkout.

Memorial Fund for Air Victim

NEW YORK (AP) — An anonymous gift of $1,000 has started a memorial fund for Stephen Baltz, 11, the boy whose fight for life after an airplane collision won the sympathy of the nation.

The money was sent to the Methodist Hospital of Brooklyn, where the boy died 27 hours after the crash that cost 135 other lives here Dec. 1.

The donor was described at the hospital only as "an elderly maiden lady."

The gift, along with other money being received in the boy's memory, mostly in denominations of $1 to $5, will be used to establish a memorial room on the children's floor of the hospital.

Fire-blackened coins found in the boy's clothing — five nickels and four dimes — will be fused into a memorial plate to be hung in the room.

The Rev. Donald Stockdale Stanley, the hospital's field chaplain, said that the hospital has been "swamped with mail from all parts of the country."

Some letters contain contributions, but most represent expressions of sympathy.

Farmers can get a copy of a new tax guide at the Extension Service office according to County Agent Calvin Caldwell. This guide is designed to help farmers with their income tax problems and employment taxes. This booklet discusses soil bank payments, gasoline tax refunds, social security tax, soil and water conservation payments and other phases of farming. There is no charge.

Mrs. James C. Henry of Hope received a very unique Christmas card from her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Vance of Zargassas, Spain. The card had a raised cut out Nativity scene.

It has been brought to the attention of the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney that certain individuals are letting stock run large in the Spring Hill area.

It seems hogs are running at large and are damaging cornfields in that area. The fact that a cemetery is involved makes the matter even more serious as the law is especially severe in such cases. Sheriff Griffin and Deputy Prosecutor John L. Wilson issued the following statement: "We sincerely hope that this matter is cleared up without having to take further action. We realize that the owners of the stock that is doing the damage certainly have no malicious intent, but, nevertheless, the complaints are coming into our office and we must act accordingly if this warning is not heeded."

Tomorrow the Bookmobile goes to Bluff City at 9:30 a.m. Bryson's Cafe at 11 a.m. Cagle's Station at 12:30 and Pleasant Hill at 1:30 p.m.

Revamping U.S. Regulatory Agencies Seen

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senior congressional Republican today agreed with a Kennedy adviser on the need to overhaul federal regulatory agencies. But he said Congress, not the president, should do the revamping.

Rep. John B. Bennett of Michigan, ranking GOP member of the House Commerce Committee which deals with regulatory agencies, commented in an interview on a study made for President-elect John F. Kennedy by former Harvard Law School Dean James M. Landis.

Kennedy hailed Landis' report issued Monday as "a most important and impressive analysis" which should be studied by "members of Congress as well as the agencies themselves."

Sen. John A. Carroll, D-Colo., chairman of a Senate subcommittee studying administrative practices, called for a drive against "powerful pressure groups" which he said have stymied agency reform. He said Kennedy will provide the leadership for change, and that the present-elect had invited him to confer on the Landis report.

Landis has served as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board and on the Federal Trade Commission. These are among the seven major regulatory agencies he discussed in often biting terms.

The so-called independent agencies have been set up by Congress over the years to regulate and hand down judgments on major economic activities.

Landis pictured the agencies as ridden by outside pressures, as too cozy with those whom they are supposed to regulate, as snarled in delays and slipping in caliber of personnel.

He accused both President Eisenhower and Truman, of a lack of concern for the agencies, of appointing commissioners for political reasons rather than ability to do the job, and failing to avoid outside influences themselves on international air cases which are sent to the White House by the CAB.

Landis called for a series of reorganizations to be made by the new president under reorganization authority similar to that which he said Congress had granted to Eisenhower and Truman.

Bennett, however, said "what-ever reforms are needed ought to be legislated by Congress. One of the most important things is keeping these agencies independent."

Young Eisenhower to War College

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. John Eisenhower will go to the Army War College in Pennsylvania after his father leaves the White House.

He has been serving as a military assistant at the White House since 1958.

The younger Eisenhower's name appeared today on a list of 162 officers selected to attend the class at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., starting Aug. 17.

The Army said Col. Eisenhower will be given other duties prior to the beginning of the 10-month course at the institution which prepares selected officers for higher command and staff positions.

Shortly after President Eisenhower's first inauguration in 1953, his son was assigned to nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va. He had previously been on duty in Korea.

John Eisenhower and his family live in Gettysburg, Pa., close to the farm home where the President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to live in retirement. Gettysburg is about 30 miles from where John will be stationed.

Accidents Fatal to 9 in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine persons died in traffic accidents over the Christmas holiday in Arkansas.

The ninth death was recorded Monday when Cora Clark, 74, a Negro, was struck and killed as she walked across Highway 24 a mile east of Chidester. State Police said she was hit by a car driven by Billy Joe Purifoy, 19, also a Negro, of Peoria, Ill.

Eight persons had died in previous accidents after the holiday period began at 6 a.m. Friday. It ended at midnight Monday.

State Police had predicted before the holiday that five persons would die in highway accidents.

Fuel Dispute Has Aviation World Agog

LONDON (AP) — The world's big airline companies buzzed today over an argument by two British officials about a new jet fuel one of them says is dangerously explosive.

The new fuel, called JP4, is a mixture of gasoline and kerosene, instead of just kerosene alone. Many airlines now use it, but an airline executive in New York said no domestic airline he knows of uses JP4 in normal operations in the United States.

The argument came to light through Lord Brabazon, chairman of the British Air Registration Board and an aviation expert decorated by the queen.

He published in the "Listener," British Broadcasting Corp. weekly organ, a series of letters between himself and Sir William Hildred, director-general of International Air Transport Association. The IATA represents the major airlines.

Brabazon is critical of JP4 and demonstrated its explosiveness recently on a television program. He repeated his argument against its use in correspondence with Hildred.

Hildred said the television demonstration was "harmful to the worldwide airline industry." He wrote Brabazon and accused him of putting dangerous statements before "emotional millions."

Brabazon said no group of experts could dispute his claim that JP4 flashes quickly into flame while kerosene "does not. No planes using the fuel have been known to crash and Brabazon did not cite any cases.

Spokesmen for the airline industry said the fuel was adopted after stringent testing and is technically superior.

Girl Knows There Is a Santa Claus

VIOLA, Ark. (AP) — Coleta Burns knows that Santa Claus still lives—at least in the hearts of her fellow Americans.

The 11-year-old farm girl last week wrote to New York police enlisting their aid in locating Santa.

From all over the country letters and cards poured into the post office here, many bearing money.

Postmaster Jim Felts said that some $32 arrived from as far away as California.

Felts said that the western regalia promised by George Olowiski of Perth Amboy, N. J., had not yet arrived. However a plane for Coleta's 13-year-old twin sisters arrived from a Missouri couple who had promised one.

Coleta said she got the idea for writing New York from watching television.

The family lives in a neat, native stone house and her father, Carmel Burns, farms. He is also a parttime carpenter.

Coleta is in the sixth grade and one of seven children ranging in ages from 4 through 18.

Holiday Death Toll Running Behind 1959

Traffic accidents killed at least 485 Americans during the long Christmas weekend.

The nation's traffic toll for the holiday was less than last year's 493 and the lowest for a 3-day Christmas period since 1949 when the toll was 413.

There were fewer lives lost on the highways than the National Safety Council had estimated. The council's pre-holiday warning was that 510 traffic deaths were expected.

Deaths in traffic smashups slackened Monday night despite increased traffic as millions of motorists jammed highways heading for home from Christmas visits. Rain and ice made driving hazardous in some areas and the death rate dropped slightly.

The count at midnight (local time), at the end of the 78-hour holiday period which started at 6 p.m. Friday, showed 485 killed in motor vehicle accidents.

Fires also took a heavy toll, with 77 deaths reported compared to 43 for last year's Christmas weekend holiday. Various types of other accidents claimed the lives of 82 persons compared to 73 last Christmas for an overall total of 44 violent deaths. Last Christmas (Dec. 26) was 609 accidental deaths.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated a possible death toll of 510, said traffic fatalities would number 350 on a normal non holiday weekend at this time of year. It estimates 340 persons may be killed during the three-day New Year holiday weekend.

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths for a 78-hour non-holiday weekend period earlier this month showed 293 traffic fatalities, 47 killed in fires and 113 killed in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 453.

Icy Blast of Air Comes in From Canada

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blast of icy air from Canada spread into northern Midwest areas today, dropping temperatures to nearly 30 below zero in some places.

The frigid weather covered sections of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin and was expected to envelop most of the north central region. Lower temperatures were in prospect for most of the Eastern half of the nation.

The mercury dropped to 29 below in Fargo, N.D., as the cold air mass moved across the snow-covered Midwest areas. It was -23 in Jamestown, N.D., and in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. Grand Forks, N.D., reported -20.

Freezing weather extended over most sections of the Rockies and the central plateau eastward through the northern and central plains, the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and into extreme northern New England.

Readings were in the 40s along coastal areas of the Atlantic and Pacific and were in the 50s in the Southwest desert region and most that have made substantial progress in their own development. [Previously only Britain qualified.]

Declares Snowman Is Just a Myth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A biologist member of Sir Edmund Hillary's recent Himalayan expedition says the Abominable Snowman is a myth.

"It's been a fascinating story and I hate to be the one to destroy it," Lawrence Swan of San Francisco State College said Tuesday. Swan was one of two biologists who accompanied Sir Edmund into the Himalayas in search of the Abominable Snowman or Yeti, as it is known to the Nepalese.

Sir Edmund recently returned with two scalps the natives said were taken from Yeti. Swan, a Himalayan fauna expert, says that the hair on the scalps is fake and that the Abominable Snowman never existed.

"It's time someone set the record straight," he said.

Thinks 340 to Die on New Years

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council says 340 persons may die on the nation's highways during the New Year's holiday weekend.

The estimated death toll would compare with 374 killed during a similar three-day weekend a year ago, which was record for a three-day weekend period.

Council President Howard Pyle said speeding and drinking are the main factors in New Year's traffic fatalities. He said more than half the fatal mishaps occur during the first 30 hours of the weekend.

The council also estimated 14,000 persons would suffer disabling injuries from traffic accidents during the 78-hour period which begins 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

The toll for a comparable non-holiday period, the council estimated, would be 310 deaths and 15,000 disabling injuries.

France Sets Off A-Test in the Sahara

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — France successfully exploded her third experimental atomic device in the Sahara Desert today.

The test apparently was a step forward in cutting down the size of two devices—exploded last Feb. 13 and April 1—to practical size for use in varied weapons. The Defense Ministry said today's explosion was "of small strength."

No details of the device were given, but the announcement said the shot took place "within the framework of the French military atomic program" at 7:30 a. m. and was a success.

The test apparently was above the surface, contrary to expectations that France would explode her next atomic instrument below ground.

The test may have been delayed to come after the adjournment of the U. N. General Assembly. Almost all the independent states of Africa have protested the French tests at Reggane, a desert area 1,500 miles south of Oran, Algeria.

The third test was one more step in President Charles de Gaulle's determined drive to gain France a voice in the exclusive "atomic club"—so far confined to the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

With the third explosion, he may now be able to claim U. S. aid in atomic development with more coastal areas of the Atlantic and Pacific and were in the 50s in the Southwest desert region and most that have made substantial progress in their own development. [Previously only Britain qualified.]

Kennedy Picks Missourian as Highway Chief

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson said today the Kennedy administration is planning a very vigorous and accelerated space exploration program.

Johnson told of the plan—without going into any detail—at a news conference after he and Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., had concluded two days of talks with President-elect John F. Kennedy. Kerr is slated to succeed Johnson as chairman of the Senate Space Committee.

And Kennedy has announced that in the new administration Johnson will be chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Advisory Council.

Earlier, Kennedy named Rex Whitton, chief engineer of Missouri's highway department, to be federal highway administrator.

The present administrator is Bertram D. Tallamy.

Meanwhile there were reports that Kennedy is considering naming career diplomat Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to be ambassador to France. Bohlen is at present State Department adviser on Russian problems. He is a former ambassador to Moscow.

Whitton, 62, will administer the Federal Highway Act in his new position which pays $20,000 a year.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said he did not know Whitton's political party affiliation.

Whitton has been associated with the Missouri Highway Department since 1920 and has been its chief engineer since 1951.

"Mr. Whitton's long background in every phase of highway work will place the direction of the nation's important highway program in the hands of a man of unmatched experience," Kennedy said in a statement.

Kennedy chose Whitton after consultation with Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina, who will be secretary of commerce in the new administration.

Whitton was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1920 with a degree in civil engineering. In his position with the Missouri Highway Department he has supervised the state's 32,000 miles of road systems.

Whitton's home is in Jefferson City, Mo.

Whatever business Kennedy transacted this morning with Johnson, Kerr and Rooney was brief. The quartet and Kennedy's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, turned up at the Palm Beach Country Club for a round of golf shortly after Salinger announced resumption of the talks.

The president-elect's discussions with Johnson, Kerr and Rooney began Monday afternoon. Secretary of the Treasury-designate Douglas Dillon, now serving in the Eisenhower administration as undersecretary of state, was on hand for that session.

The talks recessed while Kennedy, Johnson and Dillon got in a round of golf at the Palm Beach Country Club. The president-elect also played during the morning.

After dinner at the Kennedy family's seaside home, the president-elect, Johnson, Kerr and

WORTHY OF ITS GREAT NAME—The fleet ballistic missile submarine USS George Washington cuts through the leaden reaches of the Atlantic, outbound from Charleston, S.C. The 100-million-dollar undersea craft opens a new era in warfare. Traveling beneath the waves on silent patrol, its 16 Polaris thermonuclear missiles are a threat of instant devastating retaliation against any aggressor thinking of surprise attack. It can stay under water almost indefinitely. Its power and relative invulnerability are unsurpassed. More of these deadly craft are to come.

Socialists Still Strike in Belgium

By JOHN SWAELENS
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Socialist Union leaders called strike alerts in big American-owned industries today as the paralyzing protest against Belgium's austerity program entered its seventh day.

The government claimed the nationwide strike was folding, and most government workers had returned to their jobs. But with new strike calls and the industrial south still immobilized, King Baudouin was ready to cut short his honeymoon in Spain and hurry back home.

Socialist trade unions representing 25,000 workers in Antwerp firms issued a strike alert. The union members are due to join the widespread protest strike movement Jan. 4 but Socialist sources said the strike may come sooner.

Acne, as the teen-ager who has it knows, is no joke. It takes constant and careful care to clear it up. It also takes attention to diet, exercise and skin cleanliness. This teen-ager (left) makes use of a series of new products designed especially to help her in her battle against acne. She uses a medicated cream before she goes to bed at night, applying it gently with fingertips. But the cream is skin-lined and so can be worn under make-up during the day. To start her day in the morning, she wets her face (center) with warm water. She rotates a small amount of medicated cleanser onto the skin, working up a lather. Then she rinses her face and pats it carefully dry with a clean towel. She follows this with a mild astringent lotion which she applies with sterile cotton puffs. The three products in this kit are meant to be used regularly and all three are designed to work together in clearing up the skin. She is also careful (right) about her diet. She stays away from fats, starches and sweets. And she takes as much fresh air and exercise as she can manage each day. She is also careful to get a full eight hours sleep each night. This is important.

Wife Can't Forget Poor Butterfly!

Dear Helen: My husband spent three years Army service in Japan. There he fell in love with a Japanese girl with whom he lived for over a year. Then he returned to the United States, met me and we were married. I don't know what's wrong with me but I can't let this issue die. He has told me everything about this girl from how good a cook she was to her threatening suicide when he left her. He keeps a picture of her in his wallet. Every time I get some money, there she is.

We've had many arguments about this picture which always ends with me crying. He doesn't carry a picture of me. How can I solve this problem? —R. L. B.

Dear R. L. B.: I feel sorry for Poor Butterfly. But watch out, you'll drive him back into her arms if you don't stop picking on him.

Encourage him to talk about her. Suggest he have the wallet picture copied and framed for the living room. Learn to cook the same dishes she did. Give him such a dose of her that he'll never want to hear her name or see her face again.

Dear Helen: Our sister, a divorcee, plans to remarry. She says she wants everything correct. Our father is living and in good health, yet she is asking her son-in-law to give her away, although she has invited father to the wedding. His three other daughters, of whom I am one, feel this is a breach of etiquette and an insult to our father.

The wedding is in the house with only the families and a few friends present. We love our father dearly and won't stand for him being slighted. Are we right or wrong? —The Three Sisters

Dear Sisters: Kindness is the essence of etiquette. That goes for you, three as well as your sister. Of course the kind thing for her to do would be to ask her father to give her away. But it's her wedding, not yours. Help her to make it a happy one by accepting the situation with grace, as your father has probably already done.

Dear Helen: The question has arisen in our teen-age crowd as to the propriety of accepting articles of clothing (sweaters, skirts and so forth) from our boy friends. Someone read that in doing so implies the donor has privileges.

Wouldn't it be better taste for the boys to give us jewelry, bill-folds, books or candy? —Wondering Crowd

Dear Wondering Crowd: The "someone" is darned right. Accepting gifts of wearing apparel from the boy friends does imply that they have "privileges." That also holds for any gift, including jewelry, of a costly nature. Only a fiance or husband has the right.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Our Fine Ten-agers."

Says Sprinkler Was Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Navy Yard shipbuilding superintendent testified today that "in retrospect" a temporary sprinkler system could have been installed a few months ago aboard the fire-stricken aircraft carrier Constellation.

Capt. Robert C. Gooding, who is also the yard's repair superintendent, said the ship's fire broke out in the engine room.

The fire aboard the carrier at the yard last Monday cost the lives of 49 workmen and caused $75 million damage to the ship.

Gooding mentioned the possibility of a sprinkler system when asked how, in view of the fire having occurred, its impact could have been reduced.

Arkansas's Brother Shot to Death

AUBURN, Calif. (AP)—James Hilborn, 31, had never met 44-year-old Benjamin Deane Handy Jr. But, police said, Handy fired the shot which killed Hilborn.

Hilborn and his wife were driving from their Pilot Hill home to Yuba City for Christmas dinner with relatives Sunday when a bullet ripped through the rear window of their panel truck, killing Hilborn.

Handy, booked for investigation of murder, was quoted by Sheriff W. A. Scott as saying, "I wanted to rid the world of some people."

Scott said he had been a mental patient since 1945 and apparently had gone berserk after his car broke down while he was driving from his home in Modesto to Sierra City.

Hilborn's body will be sent to Malvern, Ark. for funeral services.

A brother, Roy Hilborn, lives in Malvern.

Handy was captured by a highway patrolman who found him waving a hunting rifle.

Handy was a witness before a Navy court of inquiry that is investigating the fire.

The fire aboard the carrier at the yard last Monday cost the lives of 49 workmen and caused $75 million damage to the ship.

Gooding mentioned the possibility of a sprinkler system when asked how, in view of the fire having occurred, its impact could have been reduced.

Tulane Back First Pro Draft Pick. PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Halfback Tommy Mason of Tulane today was named the No. 1 choice at the National Football League's player draft by the league's newest team, the Minnesota Vikings.

Mason ranked 15th in the nation in both rushing and pass receiving this past season despite playing with a losing team.

The Vikings general manager, Bert Rose, hinted Mason might become part of a deal for a veteran NFL quarterback.

The Vikings have talked with the New York Giants about George Shaw, and Los Angeles on the availability of a surplus Ram quarterback.

Washington, using a first choice acquired from Dallas in the Eddie LeBaron trade, selected Norman Snead, Wake Forest quarterback, and then-on Jose Rutgens, Illinois tackle.

Other first round choices: Los Angeles, Marlin McKee, Southern California linebacker; Chicago Bears, Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh end; and San Francisco, with Pittsburgh's choice acquired by trade, Jim Johnson, UCLA back.

Cuban Station Workers Purged. HAVANA (AP)—The management of CMQ, government controlled radio-TV station sabotaged in a million-dollar fire two weeks ago, announced today 11 employees have been purged.

The station said five technicians, four newsmen, a coordinator and a master control room worker were fired.

Authorities said phosphorous was thrown into the air conditioning system Dec. 15. The resulting blaze swept two floors in the station's downtown building and destroyed equipment, film and records. Firemen battled three hours to control the fire.

Holiday Cage Tournaments Nearing Peak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. The rolling snowball of holiday basketball tournaments nears its full momentum tonight and most of the top college teams are in the action that will spread from coast-to-coast within the next two days.

Kansas State and Oklahoma got things rolling with victories Monday night in the Big Eight tournament while Santa Clara and San Francisco came off winners in the West Coast Athletic Conference affair.

This afternoon in New York's Madison Square Garden, a pair of unbeaten, seventh-ranked St. John's and Providence, face each other, and third-ranked St. Bonaventure takes on St. Joseph's (Pa.). The Bonnies also are undefeated.

Tonight, in another Garden doubleheader, Utah plays Penn and Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked college team and defending NCAA champion, plays Seton Hall.

The All-College Tournament gets under way tonight in Oklahoma City where New York University plays Tulsa and Oklahoma City meets Baylor. Wednesday Wichita plays Houston and Utah State versus Texas Christian.

In the Motor City Classic tonight Xavier (Ohio) plays Colorado State U. and Yale meets host Detroit University. Denver University, Penn State, Los Angeles State and host Evansville begin the Evansville, Ind., Holiday Festival tonight.

The Big Eight and WCAC affairs continue tonight. Kansas plays Nebraska and Iowa State goes against Missouri in the Big Eight and Loyola of Los Angeles meets San Jose State and St. Mary's faces Fordham in the other first-round games of the WCAC get-together.

Kansas State capitalized on Oklahoma State errors for a 2-5 victory in the Big Eight Monday night after which Oklahoma nipped Colorado 4-0.

Santa Clara defeated College of the Pacific 50-44 and Pepperdine fell before San Francisco 7-3.

Teachers in New Orleans Plan Meet. NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Two segregation leaders were listed as speakers at a meeting today of white New Orleans school teachers.

The meeting was called by dissident members of the local chapter of the Louisiana Teachers Association who charged the Orleans Parish School Board was obstructing the Legislature.

The school board complied with federal court integration orders here Nov. 14, but the Legislature, meeting in three special sessions, has passed law after law in a thrustful futile effort to halt integration at two New Orleans schools.

Speakers for the meeting include Emilio A. Wagner Jr., the only school board member who opposed compliance with the integration order, and Sen. E. W. Gravolet Jr., vice chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation.

Austin W. Wilson Jr., spokesman for the teachers who called the meeting, said it was set "for the purpose of recognizing the Louisiana State Legislature as a final authority on all matters concerning the operation of the Orleans Parish public schools."

The Legislature has tried four times to take control of the schools from the school board but each time the federal courts have voided the action as an unconstitutional attempt to get around the integration order.

The dissident teachers charged that resolutions adopted Saturday by about 300 members of LTA were too "weak." The LTA meeting voted to set up a meeting between Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, the school board, LTA representatives and legislative leaders to arrange for pay for teachers.

Because of the integration fight, teachers here have received pay

Eagles Down Green Bay for Pro Title

By GEORGE ESPEY. PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles have their first National Football League title in 11 years and they did it by coming up with the big stopper on defense, clutch passing by Norm Van Brocklin and rookie Ted Dean's 58-yard kickoff return on a newly installed play.

The Eagles, a Cinderella team which rose from last in 1959 to second last year and the Eastern Conference crown this season, came from behind Monday for the eighth time in 12 games this season to defeat Green Bay 17-13 for the world championship.

For Coach Buck Shaw and Van Brocklin, both retiring, it marked the greatest moment in their long and colorful football careers. Sports writers voted Van Brocklin, 34, the outstanding player of the game.

Shaw, 61, who installed the play which led to the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter, said after the game: "You can't go any further than this." It was Shaw's first title in 12 years of coaching professional football.

"The defense did a great job," said Shaw. "They got the job done when they had to."

For Green Bay, a last-place team like the Eagles last two seasons ago, it was a day of heartbreak. The final gun sounded with the Packers on the Eagles' 9-yard line where iron-man Chuck Bednarik, who played outstandingly for almost 60 minutes, had stopped fullback Jim Taylor.

The Packers, the Western Conference champions, twice led in the game watched by a sellout crowd of 7,325 which paid the largest gate in NFL championship history. The game was televised nationally.

Green Bay led 6-0 on field goals of 20 and 23 yards by Paul Hornung but the Eagles struck like lightning in the second quarter, going from their own 43 for a touchdown on just two pass plays.

Van Brocklin, a 12-year veteran who played in four previous championships while with Los Angeles, connected with Tommy McDonald for 22 yards, then hit the slippery slot back again with a 35-yard touchdown strike. Bobby Walston added the extra point to put the Eagles ahead 7-6.

The Eagles increased the lead to 10-6 when Walston booted a 15-yard field goal set up by Van Brocklin passes of 41 yards to Pete Retzlaff and 22 yards to Dean.

The real clincher, however, came after the Packers had taken a 13-10 lead on a seven-yard TD pass from Bart Starr to Max McGee in the fourth quarter. That was Dean's five-yard touchdown run which he set up himself with a kickoff return to the Packers' 39 right after Green Bay's final score.

The kickoff return play was a new one Shaw installed last week after receiving scouting reports from assistants.

"Only for that runback (by Dean) we probably would have held them," said Packers coach Vince Lombardi. "That gave the Eagles the big lift and we couldn't stop them. Dean certainly had great blocking on the big run."

Shaw indicated that the turning point of the game was in the first quarter when Philadelphia held the Packers on the Eagles' 5-yard line and a few moments later when they halted a drive on the 8, forcing the Packers to settle for three points on the 20 yard field goal by Hornung.

The Eagles, in winning their first title since they defeated Los Angeles in 1949, received $5,116 for each player. The losers share was $3,105 a man. Gross receipts, including radio and television rights, were $747,876. The record for the winning players' share was $4,718 by the Baltimore Colts in 1958.

American men now average 5-foot-10 in height, equal to Africa's Nilotic tribesmen — long known as the world's tallest people. American women average five feet, five inches.

For only one of the past two months, The Legislature has cut off school board funds and banks have been unwilling to grant loans.

Lombardi to Stay With Green Bay

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi is hopping mad over persistent reports that he plans to leave the Packers and succeed Jim Lee Howell as head mentor of the New York Giants.

"I'll be going back to Green Bay," Lombardi snapped Monday after the Packers had lost 17-13 to the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football League championship.

Lombardi, a former offense coach with the Giants, has three years to run on a five-year Packers contract.

Cotton Bowl Teams Work Out in Texas. DALLAS (AP)—The Cotton Bowl teams were both in Texas today with contrasting views coming from the coaches.

Ditko flew into San Antonio Monday and although arriving four hours late because of the fog got down to business in a hurry. Coach Bill Murray was pleased with the condition and attitude of the players and liked the work-out.

Arkansas arrived at Houston and drilled for three hours with Coach Frank Broyles complaining that his players were not in as good shape as he expected. He also had another worry, one he's been talking about ever since he got a glimpse of Duke game films.

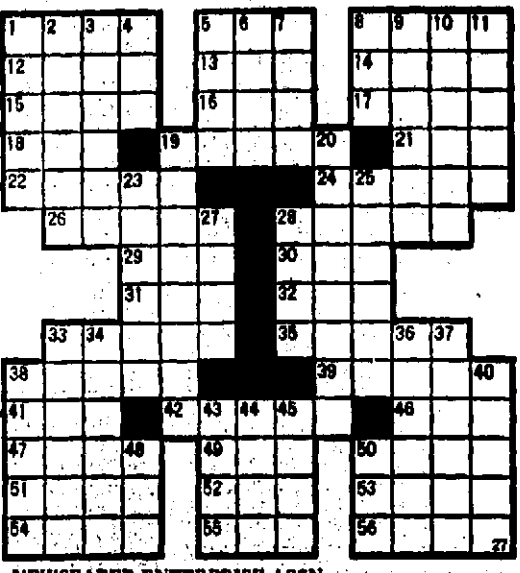

That lonesome end Duke takes is giving the Arkansas coaching staff trouble aplenty.

"We have to prepare an entirely different pass defense to get ready for it," said Broyles.

Assistant Coach Doug Diekey told the Arkansas defense to look out for "the wrangle" of Duke's lonesome end, Tee Moorman. "Don't run off and leave the linebacker," he warned the secondary. "That lonesome end will have the ball, put on the wr

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

TIME FOR VIOLENCE

THE STORY: Stella Harding, daughter of Tom Harding, owner of this ranch, seems to be stalked by Bart Wagner, who blends with him to take her away from the ranch country which she hates. Bart, however, has promised Catherine Lewis, a young widow, that he'll help her manage her place.

The next morning he scouted the entire pasture looking for unbranded calves, and found two.

Strang horses were under the cottonwood when he reached the ranch house. He heard men's voices, opened the door, and went in. Catherine was at the stove, pouring coffee. Stella was standing at the front window, looking out, but turned as Bart ducked under the door frame.

A big man stood up. He wore a white shirt and dark vest, boots, big hat. He was heavy-shouldered, and his neck sat down between his shoulders. He had a full beard, beginning to turn gray, and his eyes were sharp and penetrating.

She said timidly, "That's Bart Wagner, Mr. Goodnight."

Goodnight stuck out a huge hand. "Charlie, Goodnight, JA Ranch."

"Pleased to make your acquaintance," said Bart. "This here—" The cattleman motioned to a black-haired man, not as big as Goodnight but with observant eyes and a calmness of manner that set him apart. "Judge Willis, judge of the Thirty-fifth Judicial District, come to hold court in Clarendon next week."

They shook hands. "Ben hearing about the court, but I never knew whether to believe it or not."

Catherine seemed to have recovered her poise. Bart felt sure she never had had that much company in her life, and he smiled at her as she put coffee before him.

"That's what we come to talk about," said Goodnight, sitting down. "Miz Lewis, I'm sorry. I didn't know old Ben was dead. Did you see who shot him?"

Xenophon Jones said he did it.

"Just what did he say?"

"He came up when I was feeding my chickens and he said, 'Old Ben is dead up at the spring, and you'd better get out of here quick if you don't want the same thing.'"

"But he did not actually say who shot your husband?"

"No, sir, I guess he didn't."

Willis shook his head. "An implied threat is the most you can make out of it." He was speaking to Goodnight. "You'd better rely on the conviction of Three-Finger and Indian George for branding cattle that didn't belong to them."

Goodnight spoke to Bart.

"We're going to have trouble getting a jury. The legislature divided the Panhandle into counties about five or six years ago, but that justice means they set the boundaries. Each county was to be formally organized when it got 150 property owners," he said.

Judge Willis said in his musical voice, "Jurymen must be property owners, Mr. — Wagner, is it?"

"Mr. Goodnight is a property owner."

"Every rancher in the Panhandle," said Goodnight, "is a property owner—but they are also members of the Panhandle Stock Association, and since the stock association is prosecuting these men, its members cannot serve on a jury."

Bart put down his coffee and began to make a cigarette.

"The law doesn't say how much property a man has to own, does it, judge?"

"No. It must be real estate, however—not personal property."

"Then take a quarter of land near Clarendon and survey an addition," said Bart. "Deed one lot to every cowhand around the county. The lots won't be worth much but they will be property."

Goodnight slapped the table with his big hand. "Why didn't somebody think of that before?"

"A good solution," Willis agreed.

"There must be 500 hands in the county or the surrounding counties in the district," said Goodnight. His massive frame was rocking with energy. "I've got a quarter near Clarendon. I'll get the surveyor up there tomorrow."

"The pounding of hooves came from near the creek, and Bart went to the window. A man on a gray horse slid off in front of the door. Goodnight was up to meet him. "What are you heading up a good horse over?" he demanded.

Bart recognized Hector Johnson and glanced at Stella. A tiny quirk of scornfulness showed at the corners of her well-shaped mouth.

"The outlaws have gotten together," said Hector between breaths. "They hired Piggie Benson to come down here from Tascosa and break up the court."

"How do you know?" asked Goodnight.

"Two of my hands got fired four days ago for fighting. They went up to Tascosa and saw this regular recruiting station where Benson is signing up men—him and Xenophon Jones."

Goodnight's chin stuck out. "How many are they bringing?"

"The talk in Tascosa is 50."

CHAPTER XIV

Judge Willis seemed to find it incredible. "Do you mean they will actually try to intimidate the court?"

"Try!" Goodnight roared. He pounded the table. "Judge, they have the gall to intimidate the court if they can. If they cannot intimidate the court, they will intimidate the witnesses. And if they cannot intimidate the witnesses—all of whom will be members of the association—they will intimidate the jurymen."

"That is not possible," said Willis. "No court would allow its jurymen to be threatened."

Willis began to look worried. "If the situation is as bad as you say, I will not even hold court; it would be a travesty of justice under conditions of implied threat and intimidation. Charlie, you have convinced me you're not ready for civilized law. You'd better forget it until the percentage of outlaws goes down."

"How is it going to be lowered?" Goodnight demanded. "When there is no law?"

"I don't know, Charlie."

"If we had things under control the way you think they should be, we wouldn't need a judge," Goodnight said scornfully. "So go on back to Austin and tell the governor to send us a man with guts!"

Willis seemed unmoved by that outburst, but he studied Goodnight soberly. Finally he said, "All right, Charlie. I'll hold court, but I'm warning you: if this develops into an open gunfight and spectators get killed, it will hurt the Panhandle for a hundred years."

Goodnight slapped him on the shoulder with a blow that rocked him in his chair. "I knew you would if I needed you!" he roared. "How about a drink?"

Willis smiled. "You said something, Charlie."

"Miz Lewis, old Ben have any Cedar Valley left?"

Catherine brought the bottle, about half full. She set it on the table and gave them tin cups.

Goodnight looked sharply at her. "I was in Myers's when he bought that case. He must have hit it pretty hard."

She said nothing.

"Nobody else had any?" Goodnight insisted. Perhaps he was trying to find out how close Ben Lewis had been to Xenophon Jones.

Catherine said hastily, "Mr. Wagner had to have something while I took the bullet out of his arm." Then she bit her lip, and Bart felt sorry for her. She had known better than to tell a thing like that, but the unusual amount of company and the prominence of men like Goodnight and Willis, and the sharp-pointed questions of Goodnight, had upset her.

Bart finished his drink. The eyes of Hector Johnson were on him, suspicious; those of Judge Willis were inquiring; Stella's were excited in their black depths; Catherine's brown eyes were troubled and Goodnight was alert.

"I picked it up near Tascosa," Bart said "from one of your outlaws. Matter of fact, I saw him in Clarendon two days ago."

Goodnight's own eyes narrowed. "Who?"

"Stud Murphy."

"Did you have a shoot-out with him?"

"No. He wanted my horse, but I persuaded him not to take it; then he shot me in the left arm as he got up off the ground."

"Looks all right," said Goodnight. "You swing it good." He turned. "You ready, judge?"

Bart followed them out. Catherine went toward the woodpile near the shed.

Bart stood just outside the door in the shade, and silently watched Goodnight and Willis mount and ride off across the creek. They raised their hands as they looked back, and Bart waved in return. Then he stood for a moment, finishing his cigarette.

Stella's voice was low but clear, and filled with contempt. "Hector Johnson, I want no more talk from you. You're a ranch foreman, and that's all, and you never will be anything else. I told you six months ago I didn't want you to bother me any more."

There was no answer. Bart guessed that Hector was accepting her verdict. Bart felt sorry for him, because he had recognized in Hector's voice the acid jealousy of a man inexperienced with women and perhaps almost wholly ignorant of them.

Hector Johnson clumped heavily out the back door and around the side of the house.

Bart dropped his cigarette on the hard ground. "You didn't hold your voice down."

Hector stalked up to him. "I'm going to give you a licking."

"I don't want to argue," Bart

Aviation Pioneer Dies at 74

NEW YORK (AP)—Giuseppe Mario Bellanca, one of the great figures of aviation history, is dead at 74.

He died at Memorial Hospital said suddenly, impatient with him. "Nobody could take Stella away from anybody, because she wouldn't be loyal to anybody in the first place."

Hector's eyes blazed. "I ought to gun you for saying that." "Save your lead for men like Xenophon Jones and Piggie Benson."

It was his monoplane Columbia which made the first nonstop transatlantic flight with a passenger. This was in June 1931. Clarence D. Chamberlin was the pilot and the passenger was Charles A. Levine.

In 1931, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr. made the first nonstop flight across the Pacific in another Bellanca craft. They flew from Tokyo beach in Japan to Wenatchee, Wash. The 4,500-mile trip took 41 hours and 13 minutes.

May Restore Ike as Five Star General

By EDWIN B. MANKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders are working quietly on a plan to restore President Eisenhower to his five-star general rank soon after he leaves the White House on Jan. 20.

They conceded privately that some opposition may arise because, as a former president, he also will be eligible for a $25,000 annual pension and office expenses of up to $50,000. Restored rank would pay $20,000 a year.

A special act of Congress would be required to restore the rank because Eisenhower resigned his permanent five-star commission in 1952 when he was first nominated by the Republicans.

Sponsors of the move to restore the rank point out that there are precedents for drawing two government retirement awards. Some civilian government workers have been qualified for retirement after becoming eligible for military retirement pay.

After World War II, Congress approved an act that retained all a five-star generals and admirals on active pay and duty as long as they lived. They also may have two military aides and office space in the Pentagon or elsewhere if they wish.

Only three other five-star permanent officers of World War II now survive. They are Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Omar Bradley and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Congressional leaders of both parties are expected to cooperate in the special legislation to restore Eisenhower's former military and pay status. They expect to sound out sentiment in both the Senate and House before making approved an act that retained all a

Strong Magnetic Field Found

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—An astronomer reported today that he has discovered the strongest magnetic field ever found in nature—34,000 times stronger than that of earth.

The find was made by Dr. Horace W. Babcock, assistant director of the Mt. Palomar Observatory, with the 200-inch reflector, with the 200-inch Hale telescope at the observatory.

The magnetic field surrounds a star which is a neighbor of our solar system in the Milky Way galaxy. It has no name but is known to astronomers as HD 215441.

Nixon Will Practice Law and Politics

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is getting set to practice politics, as well as law, when he goes back to California after his term ends Jan. 20.

Nixon, defeated for the presidency by a whisker, wants another shot at the prize in 1964. In the intervening time he is going to do everything possible to convince the Republican party it ought to give him another chance.

This will involve the maintenance of close contacts with Republican leaders in all sections of the nation. It will include speeches, public appearances and statements on national issues in his role as titular head of the party.

Beyond that, Nixon proposes to campaign vigorously for Republican candidates for the Senate and House in 1962. He figures if he can help Republicans win two years from now, he will broaden the base of his strength in bidding for a second nomination in 1964.

Because of the strong showing the vice president made in losing the election to Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy by a popular vote margin of only about 112,000 ballots, Nixon believes he has a reservoir of built-in support among GOP Senate and House

Glamour Is a Lonesome Thing—(1)

Curves that life has pitched don't show in the well-rounded figure that is Marilyn Monroe to the moviegoing public. Born in Los Angeles in 1926, her childhood and teens were spent in 12 foster homes and an orphanage. Her dream: to become a movie star.

Whistle stops on Marilyn's way to stardom were the uncounted cheesecake pictures, which ranged from "cute" to "wow!" She became a photographer's model at 19, during her first marriage.

It took stardom in the '50s to boost the most famous piece of Monroe "cheese" into the collectors' item class. Taken in '49, the calendar pose is shown, above, with lace overprint.

Clues Sought in Slaying at Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Police today awaited an FBI fingerprint report in their search for a clue in the slaying of Mrs. Mary Allen Booth, 64-year-old socialite.

Mrs. Booth was last seen alive in a shopping center on Dec. 12. Her blood-stained car was found in the shopping center parking lot soon after she was reported missing. Mrs. Booth's beaten and stabbed body was found about 24 miles south of here Dec. 18.

The fingerprints, taken from her car, were expected back here soon.

Police continued to question six Negroes connected with the Booth household. Willie Thrash, 56, was taken into custody Monday. He had worked for the family 27 years. His 52-year-old wife, Willie May Thrash, who was the Booths' laundress, also was arrested.

Others in custody included Mrs. Candia Dixon, the Booths' maid, and her husband, Ben Dixon, 45, and two unidentified Negroes described only as yardboys.

Public Safety Commissioner J. Earl Downs said he wanted to talk with them again about the case and was uncertain when any would be taken to Baton Rouge for lie detector tests.

"We are trying to pick up everybody who knew them (the Booths) or worked for them in the past years to find some information that might help," Downs said.

Part of Ship Is Brought Into Port

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The stern section of the broken American tanker Pine Ridge was moored to a pier here today, ending a tragic voyage that started last week in New York and was to have ended in Corpus Christi, Tex.

Two tugs pulled the hulk to this shipbuilding center.

Aboard the section was the last member of the crew, the chief engineer, John Richard of Wilmington, Del., who remained aboard what is left of the 10,417-ton tanker to protect the salvage rights of the ship's owners, the Keystone Shipping Co. of Philadelphia.

A Coast Guard cutter, the Cherokee, had stood by the tugs during their three-day haul.

Richard was accompanied aboard the stern section by four crew members of the tug Curt which pulled the stern section along with the tug Lamberts Point.

The Pine Ridge broke in two last Wednesday in heavy seas 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C., and 28 crew members were lifted to safety Thursday by helicopters from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge.

Seven members of the crew including Capt. Clark Snyder, 44, of Havertown, Pa., are missing and presumed dead.

Cambodia Gets Red Promises

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, neutralist Cambodia's chief of state, returned from a three-month round-the-world trip today with promises of aid from Communist countries.

He told a welcoming crowd the Soviet Union has pledged a "big university and two hydro-electric dams" to Cambodia along with helicopters capable of carrying 10 to 12 passengers.

From Communist China, he said, Cambodia will get funds to members elected this year.

Nixon's associates say the vice president carried 228 congressional districts to Kennedy's 20, with independent electors winning 3 in Mississippi.

As of now, Nixon prefers campaigning for a Republican Congress to getting into the race for governor in California. He has not closed the door on that possibility.

Several factors are involved on both sides of this unsettled question. If he runs for governor, all of his campaigning will have to be in California and he will lose contacts with Republicans in other areas.

If he should run and be defeated, either in the primary or the general election, his political career would be over.

If he ran, Democrats would be certain to say he was seeking the governorship as a stepping stone to another presidential race. He would be questioned repeatedly if he intended to serve out a four-year term.

Hypnotist Admits Spree of Shooting

SONOMA, Calif. (AP)—A 33-year-old hypnotist admitted today he killed a father and wounded two of the man's daughters and a stepson in a wild shooting spree.

William Chamberlain of Sonoma, who told police he holds a doctor of philosophy degree and operates an institute of hypnotherapy in San Francisco, was charged with murder.

Police said Chamberlain was captured in a tree a half hour after the shooting Monday night.

Dead was Elmer Ghiggoli, about 60, a cheese firm employee. In critical condition were his two daughters, Sandra, 16 and Sharon 13. The dead man's stepson, James Morgan 21, of Sonoma, was slightly wounded.

Chamberlain, father of two, gave no motive for the shootings. Inspector Robert W. Hayes said Mrs. Ghiggoli and Sharon had been employed as baby sitters for the Chamberlains in the past year.

Hayes said Chamberlain drove to the Ghiggoli home, leaving his family at a house across the street. He grabbed and kissed Sharon when she answered the door, then tried to coax her into

Three Vehicles Slip Over Bank

BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP)—A car, a truck and a car slid in succession over a 50-foot bank near here, each landing on the vehicle preceding it. Three persons were injured.

The freak accidents Monday were caused by ice on a portion of U.S. 19 through the western North Carolina mountains.

State highway patrolman T. A. Sandlin said Mrs. Ora Watson Morrow, 49, of Franklin was the first driver to go over the precipice.

While Odell and Homer Grant, passersby, were helping her up the bank from the wreckage, a truck driven by Homer J. Passmore, 57, of Nanthala skidded over the bank, striking the three persons and landing on Mrs. Morrow's car.

Before the victims had time to move, another car, driven by Emory Bowman, 26, of Lakeland, Fla., piled on top of the truck.

Mrs. Morrow was critically injured. Homer Grant suffered back injuries. Odell Grant was treated for minor injuries and released.

Chamberlain chased the girl into a bedroom, Hayes said, and pulled a .22-caliber pistol. Ghiggoli, clad in pajamas, was killed by a single shot. Chamberlain then shot twice at Sandra, who was in bed, and fired three times at Sharon.

Hayes said moments later Morgan drove into the family driveway and was shot in the upper left arm by Chamberlain.

Thinks Goldfine Can Stand Trial

BOSTON (AP)—U.S. Atty. Elliot Richardson says he believes Bernard Goldfine may be well enough to stand trial on charges of evading $790,000 income taxes.

Richardson said Monday night he filed a motion Dec. 8 for re-examination of the Boston industrialist to determine his mental competency.

Rhode Island has 50 tree farms, Goldfine, 70, held in federal custody, was discharged from a Washington mental hospital last week by order of U.S. Dist. Judge George L. Hart Jr. The judge released Goldfine in custody of his son, Solomon, of Scarsdale, N.Y., for private psychiatric care.

Richardson said if Goldfine is well enough to be released from the Washington hospital, he may be well enough to stand trial.

Goldfine, 70, held in federal
